TRUFLO faucets are made of PTMT & comes in 7 different beautiful designs & colours

What is PTMT?

PTMT stands for Polytetra Methylene Terephthalate (PTMT), an Advanced Engineering Thermoplastic Polymer. It combines the advantages of both plastics and metals. Since it is an especially engineered plastic, it has many advantages over other materials in terms of functionality and longevity.

In addition to being durable, PTMT also provides the products with an excellent finish by giving them a glossy sheen. The material can be cleaned easily using detergents or soaps. Since the material can withstand environmental stress, PTMT fittings do not break, and its hardness prevents scratches. Additionally, it's anti-static, thus preventing dust from adhering to it.

TRUFLO PTMT Faucets are manufactured in-house at a facility having best-in-class machinery, using premium quality virgin raw material with high end precision moulds.

The in-house quality control lab ensures all products undergo multiple quality checks:

Temperature Endurance Test

Strength Test

Water Pressure & Leak Check Test

Flow Rate Test

Spindle Precision

Spindle of a Faucet is the most important part that ensures proper flow & durability. TRUFLO faucets have spindles that are made of premium quality Polyoxymethylene - POM.

An advanced engineering thermoplastic used in precision parts requiring high stiffness, low friction, and excellent dimensional stability.
